SHOPCRAFTS UNIONS WILL FIGHT INJUNCTION ORDER IN THE COURTS

And in the Meantime Will Continue the Strike and the Measures They Have Taken to Make it Effective—Charge Careless Use of Language in Drawing the Order Makes It Ineffective.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—“We'll resist to the last!” Such was the attitude of the legions of striking railway employees today as preparations were begun to combat the drastic injunctions secured against the entire railway shopcrafts department of the American Federation of Labor by the United States government.

The fight will go on, leaders stated, in spite of the court order secured upon petition of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty in federal court, which, temporarily, at least, restrains the strikers with their leaders, from picketing railroad property, from seeking to secure recruits to their ranks, and from issuing any strike propaganda, either in meetings or through the press.

Today the entire attention of the strike leaders was focused on the injunction and every one of its many provisions, so far-reaching and sweeping as to almost deny the strikers the right to “draw their breath,” as one official put it, were being carefully dissected and scanned by counsel.

The executive council, in a statement, said that enforcement of the injunction in so far as it applies to lawlessness and violence in connection with the strike, would be aided by every power in the shopcrafts organization.

“It is unfortunate,” the statement declared, however, “that in a suit for the announced purpose of preventing lawlessness the attorney general's office has prepared and the court, on hasty consideration, has entered an order which, unless carefully interpreted, might read as a flagrant violation of the constitutional rights of American citizens as repeatedly affirmed by the supreme court of the United States.”

“Apparently either haste or failure to use the English language with precision, has led to the drafting of an order which reads too literally, would deny the right of free speech or communication of any kind or just payments of debts, or mutual aid in lawful association, to men engaged in peaceful conduct of their business.”

The executive council of the shopcrafts held particularly that their greatest weapon—picketing—cannot be assumed to come within the provision of the injunction issued by Judge Wilkerson. Picketing, it was pointed out, has time and again been held as lawful by the supreme court of the United States. “We assume the right to continue a lawful strike in a lawful manner until a satisfactory settlement is made,” is the shopmen's attitude.

“And until advised that the constitution and supreme court decisions are no longer to be relied upon as the law of the land,” the railway shopcrafts declare they will continue to perform their “legitimate duties to their members.”

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING IN NORTH WOODS CAMP.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Albert L. Johnson, husband of Peggy Marsh, actress and dancer, was in a serious condition early today as the result of an accidentally self-inflicted pistol wound Thursday night.

Physicians said his chance of recovery were slight. The Johnsons were completing their honeymoon at the Chateaufort lake camp of Jack Clifford, former husband of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

Following a day's pistol practice in the woods Johnson is said to have been cleaning his weapon when the gun exploded. The bullet penetrated his abdomen.

A forty-mile trip by rowboat and automobile was required to get Johnson to a hospital. An emergency operation was performed at Champlain Valley Hospital.

Johnson is a son of the late Albert L. Johnson, once president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and a nephew of the late Tom Johnson, famed as mayor of Cleveland.

His actress wife was near a state of collapse today.

SEVERE STORM IN MIDDLE WEST

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 2.—Telegraph and telephone companies here were badly crippled today. A severe storm in the middle west last night was blamed. Service to Chicago during the forenoon was at a standstill. The Postal Telegraph Company had one wire to Chicago over a circuitous route by way of Cincinnati and Jacksonville, Fla. Their only other wire was a very uncertain affair to Cleveland. Otherwise the Postal was completely at a standstill during most of the forenoon. The Western Union was also similarly affected.

CATSKILL WATER FOR MT. VERNON

Mt. Vernon, Westchester county, after fifty years of controversy, has taken action to establish a municipal water system and hereafter like this city will be independent of dealing with a water company. On Friday it took over the plant and piping system of the New York and Lakehurst Water Company for $1,187,500. Water will be taken from New York city by connecting with the Hillview reservoir near Yonkers. Special piping will be laid so that Mount Vernon will have Catskill water by next spring, connection to be made with pipe line leading from the Ashokan reservoir.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDED ON WASHINGTON AVENUE VIADUCT

Friday afternoon Mrs. Emily H. Diamond of No. 38 Henry street, driving a Chevrolet sedan, and J. R. Hubbell driving a Dodge truck, collided on top of the Washington avenue viaduct. Both cars were damaged. According to the police report the accident was caused by a stone team stopping on top of the viaduct while the horses were taken down the incline to double up another load of stone.

The parked stone wagon obstructed the view of approaching cars which caused the accident. No one was hurt. The truck is owned by Hubbell Brothers of Kelly Corners.

PEACE BY TONIGHT IS EXPECTED IN ANTHRACITE COAL STRIKE

Compromise Basis, With Mine Workers Holding the Long End of the String—Old Wage Scale to Continue Until September, 1923, Instead of April, 1923 or 1924, as Demanded by the Two Parties.

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—“Peace by tonight” is expected in the anthracite miners' strike today. It is vouched for by the most reliable authorities in the controversy, the only possibility of its failure being an unforeseen blowup by the operators over some trivial point.

The joint conference of operators and miners will convene today to draft the final settlement of the five months' struggle.

Peace is expected to come on a compromise basis, with victory inclining toward the side of the mine workers. According to the best information obtainable, the old wage scale will be definitely continued until September, 1923, which forms a halfway point between the demands of the operators that it end on April 1, 1923, and the demand of the miners that it terminate April 1, 1924.

Union leaders, asked pointblank whether or not they have abandoned the two-year contract demand, answer “abandonment of arbitration and the terms of the contract leaves no insurmountable obstacle in the path of peace.”

The operators held a private session this morning at the Reading Terminal to thresh out the final points of their peace basis as they see it; the joint conference with the miners is expected to be called later in the day.

The arrival of Secretary of Labor Davis is regarded with significance in some quarters. The secretary has already conferred with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, but the result of their deliberations has not been made public. It is considered likely that Secretary Davis will also confer with the operators and with Senator George Wharton Pepper, the government spokesman and mediator in the present crisis.

Telegrams and letters asking that the operators extend the old wage scale beyond April 1, 1923, have been pouring into operators' headquarters and were read at the operators' meeting.

WATTS GETTING PROPERTY READY

S. M. Watts, of the coal firm of Watts & Tammany, who recently bought the Turkey property on the Strand opposite the Kingston-Rhinebeck ferry house, as related in The Freeman at the time, is busy getting the property ready for a coal yard.

A large stable and wagon shed is being erected of concrete blocks and Mr. Watts will also have a concrete garage built to care for the auto equipment used in the business. The remainder of the ground will be used for storing coal.

The large brick building on the property is being renovated. The lower floor is to be used for office purposes, and the upper floors as living apartments.

For years the property was used to carry on a lumber business by the Turcks, who had the office on the first floor of the building. The large lumber sheds were destroyed by fire several years ago and were not rebuilt.

CUMMINS URGES QUICK ACTION

Says Rolling Stock Is Now in Such Bad Order It Will Take Six Months to Restore to Full Efficiency.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington Sept. 2.—An emphatic warning that railroad rolling stock is already in such “bad order” that even if the shopmen's strike were ended now, it probably would be six months before transportation could be resumed at its “highest peak,” was voiced today by Senator Cummins, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee.

Senator Cummins urged the “fact that at least 20 per cent of railroad equipment essential to adequate transportation, has deteriorated since the strike started” as an “additional reason” for the immediate enactment of the administration bill to give the interstate commerce commission blanket power to move coal and curb profiteering.

Although the proposed legislation continued to encounter stiff opposition from certain senators, Cummins expressed the belief that the differences between the bill as passed by the house and as reported from his committee, would soon be “composed” and its passage by the senate by tonight secured.

Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, in attacking the bill declared that the “trouble with the situation was not that the interstate commerce commission was without ample power to meet the coal crisis, but that it was misusing the power it already possessed.”

Republican leaders in charge of the bill conceded the contention of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, that it was intended not “so much to authorize the interstate commerce commission to issue additional priority orders, as to cloak it with authority to employ such orders in such a way as would regulate coal prices and prevent profiteering by both coal operators and dealers.”

It was denied, however, by them that it was a “price fixing bill” as charged by some of its opponents. Cummins argued that it would be absolutely necessary for at least several months to allow the government “the broadest latitude” in its efforts to “insure adequate movement of coal, food and other necessities of life” and he insisted that the interstate commerce commission “should be accorded every facility to deal with the coal and railroad situation in every practicable way.”

Opposition, also was directed toward the federal fuel distribution agency the bill would create, to cooperate with the interstate commerce commission, but the necessity for such an agency was also earnestly urged by Senators Kellogg of Minnesota and other administration spokesmen.

OREGON'S PROMISES REFORMS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Mexico City, Sept. 2.—President Obregon's congressional message promising numerous reforms and stating that the republic's program will eliminate the obstacles in the way of American recognition, was cordially received today. President Obregon outlined an ambitious program to foster education of all kind throughout Mexico. He said that gambling, which had been encouraged by foreigners, would be eliminated. As to recognition, President Obregon said in part: “The American government refused to recognize Mexico while guarantees were not given which, in their opinion, were necessary to secure the rights legally acquired by American citizens.”

“Washington proposed a treaty of friendship stipulating the conditions. Mexico, instead of accepting conditional recognition, will eliminate by her own program, the obstacles in the way of recognition, thereby the waiting recognition under an equality of conditions. Mexico will make such treaties as may be necessary after recognition comes.”

“Mexico respects all rights legitimately acquired by foreigners.” President Obregon said he believed that Washington would accept a substitute for the property treaty of amity.

GOVERNMENT FIRM IN FACE OF UNION THREAT TO CALL A GENERAL STRIKE

Prepared to Go Further Than the Injunction in Order to Maintain Transportation and Protect Workers—Executive Council of Federation Meets Next Saturday and May Advise a General Strike.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Inflamed and aroused by the most drastic restraint order ever issued by a court in an industrial dispute, organized labor today projected the menacing shadow of a general strike across the country in answer to what Samuel Gompers bitterly and contemptuously described as “government by injunction.”

STRIKER SHOT BY NON-UNION MAN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 2.—Matthew Strazear, 21, striking shopman, was shot and killed and Peter Schwelschthal, 45, non-union cabinet maker, employed at the New York Central shops, is dying with a bullet through his windpipe, as the result of a clash early today between three alleged strikers and Schwelschthal in front of the latter's home here.

According to Schwelschthal's wife, who witnessed the shooting, the three men approached with drawn revolvers and began firing. Schwelschthal, though shot through the neck and breast, returned the fire, killing Strazear.

Schwelschthal had previously been threatened, according to his wife, and bricks had been hurled through his window. On one occasion he dispersed two men engaged in painting the word “scab” on his house, by shooting at them.

Police are searching for the other two gunmen.

6 INCHES OF RAIN FALLS IN 7 HOURS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The heaviest rainfall in fifty years drenched the national capital this morning, causing widespread damage and delaying transportation.

The storm began at 2 o'clock this morning and by 9 o'clock six inches of water had fallen, according to weather bureau officials. Street cars were impeded, cellars were flooded and sewers overflowed.

HOLIDAY RUSH TO THE CATSKILLS

The advance guard of Labor Day vacationists began to arrive in town Friday and the traffic officers were kept busy preserving order and preventing accidents at the busy corners on the streets which lead through town to the mountains. Through the efficiency of the officers on duty there were no serious accidents in town.

Today and Sunday will see thousands of people journeying to the mountains for the final holiday of the summer season and boarding house keepers are preparing for the biggest week end of the season. After Labor Day the city schools will re-open and this will draw back to the cities the thousands of summer visitors who have spent their vacations in the mountains. On account of the extended holiday over Sunday and Monday the biggest business of the season is expected and for the next day or two the timid driver of a motor-car will do well to select some back road for his trip. The rush started Friday today was in full swing. Since the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge down river motorists have learned the advantage of crossing the river at New York in order to avoid delays and all day today there was a continuous string of cars crossing the bridge, keeping the officers on duty there busy.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY MCGAUGHRIN AT RHINECLIFF

One of the men charged with robbing John J. McGaughrin of $288 at the Rhinecliff station of the New York Central Railroad on August 13 has been caught and is being held to await the action of the grand jury. Mr. McGaughrin after notifying the railroad detectives of the theft was called to Albany to identify a man arrested for picking pockets in the Albany station. On seeing the prisoner he recognized him as one of the three men under suspicion. He furnished $500 cash bail for appearance before the grand jury.

Frank DuFon, real estate broker of Wall street, has sold the dwelling 96 Green street, to Mrs. Amelia Winchell, the dwelling, 26 Howard avenue, to Fred. Housman, and a Kniskern cottage on Center street near Clinton avenue to Hirschell Mayes.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

From being merely a strike of some 400,000 railway shopmen, endangering the transportation system of the country, the issue has now been magnified to the point where it threatens to affect all organized labor and engulf all business and industry, labor leaders privately declared today.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, representing between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 workers, will meet in the national capital one week from today in what promises to be the most momentous gathering of labor leaders witnessed in years. While the council has not the power to call a general strike itself, it is the governing body of the federation and its advice usually is taken by the rank and file of the federation.

“The council will decide whether to ‘recommend’ a general strike to the hundreds of unions that make up the A. F. of L.”

If the meeting were tomorrow instead of next week, it is probable that a recommendation for an immediate strike would go forth, so hot is the present temper of the national officers over the Chicago injunction proceedings. Whether these tempers will cool off before next week remains to be seen, but it was apparent today that the Daugherty injunction has solidified the sentiment of all labor leaders behind the striking shopmen.

In the face of this threatening aspect on the part of the federation, came the flat declaration from the White House today that the federal government is prepared to go even further than the unprecedented injunction in seeing that transportation is maintained.

The administration's next step if the injunction fails to maintain order and transportation, will be the use of the United States army. This was the only inference that could be drawn from the statements of administration officials.

Gompers, William Johnston, president of the striking International Association of Machinists and other labor spokesmen asserted that the Daugherty injunction was not enforceable. All the juries of the country would not hold the prisoners if the court's order is literally interpreted and even partially enforced, it was said. Some government officials were of the same opinion.

They were confident, however, in asserting that the strike of the railway shopmen will go on, regardless of the injunction. How this is to be accomplished, they did not say. The terms of the court's order not only ties up the funds of the shopcrafts, but it also prohibits expressly the issuance of any orders by the heads of the six shopcrafts.

It is known, however, that when the strike started on July 1, the shopcraft leaders had made plans for a “headless strike” if necessary. They anticipated that they would perhaps get in trouble with the courts and they laid plans accordingly. It was said today. Local unions on strike are in possession of such orders as will permit them to “carry on” without their national leaders.

There is a growing sentiment in the rank and file of union labor for a general strike, it was asserted today by Samuel Gompers. Almost daily since the present industrial trouble started last April with the strike of the United Mine Workers, there has come to American Federation of Labor headquarters, he said, resolutions passed by local unions in various industries, calling for a general strike to check the “deflation of labor.”

The long strike of the textile workers in New England, the miners' strike and now the shopcrafts' strike—embracing three greatest divisions of labor in the federation—have all combined, Gompers said, to bring “constant and increasing pressure” on the national officers for a general strike call.

There was nothing else to do in this situation, Gompers said, but to summon the executive council of the federation to meet and discuss what shall be done. This meeting will be held one week from today—two days before the federal court in Chicago considers the matter of making the drastic Daugherty injunction permanent.

PAMELA'S DOLLY

"Now, this is the dolly," said a little girl named Pamela, "and I want to tell you all that happened the other day. It was the first place of all I always take my dolly wherever I go."

"My dolly is lovely! She has curly golden hair and blue, blue eyes which open when she is awake and which close when she is asleep."

"She is such a good dolly, too. All I have to do is to put her down, and she goes right, right to sleep."

"And the minute I take her up and want to show her off and let my friends see her pretty blue eyes she is awake right away and opens her eyes and my friends are delighted."

"They all see, too, that her eyes are just as blue and just as pretty as I have said they were."

"My dolly is only a baby. She is still in long dresses. I shall not put her in short dresses for several weeks."

"Right to Sleep."

yet, at least. And she wears a hood and a long coat and shawl when she is out of doors.

"I think it is wise to keep her well bundled up, you know."

"I also have a cunning little rubber pacifier which I put in her mouth. Every one knows what that is, I'm sure!"

She finds that very pleasant and restful. She never cries when I give it to her.

"But I was going to tell you about going out the other day. My mother was sick, and there was an errand she had to do quite far down town."

"In the city there are lots and lots of people, and many street cars and wagons and automobiles and trucks, and all sorts of things like that."

"My mother asked a neighbor if she would put me on one of these cars and ask the conductor to let me off at a certain place where I was to do the errand for my mother."

"Then the people I was going to see would put me back on the right car and I'd get home quite safely. I'm not a baby, but I'm not very old, and it was a busy time of the day when the people were rushing home from work, going this way and that way, and my mother was a little bit nervous to have me go alone."

"Well, I said I would take my dolly along, too."

"She will look after me, and I will look after her," I told my mother.

"So we were put on the right car. Well, so many people were getting on that car. There were certainly crowds and crowds of people!"

"But the conductor helped me most especially, because, you know, they always help mothers who are carrying babies. And my dolly is very, very big. She is almost, almost as big as a real baby."

"Yes, the conductor helped me on. I couldn't hold dolly and keep my balance (for the car was starting to go again), and get out my money."

"So I handed my little bag to the conductor and I said:

"Please get out my carfare for me, as I can't, with the baby. And there is no charge for babies, is there?"

"No charge for them," he said, and he took out the five cents and handed my bag back to me."

"The car was jammed with people, but a very polite old gentleman got up and gave me a seat. And down I sat with my dolly, after thanking him."

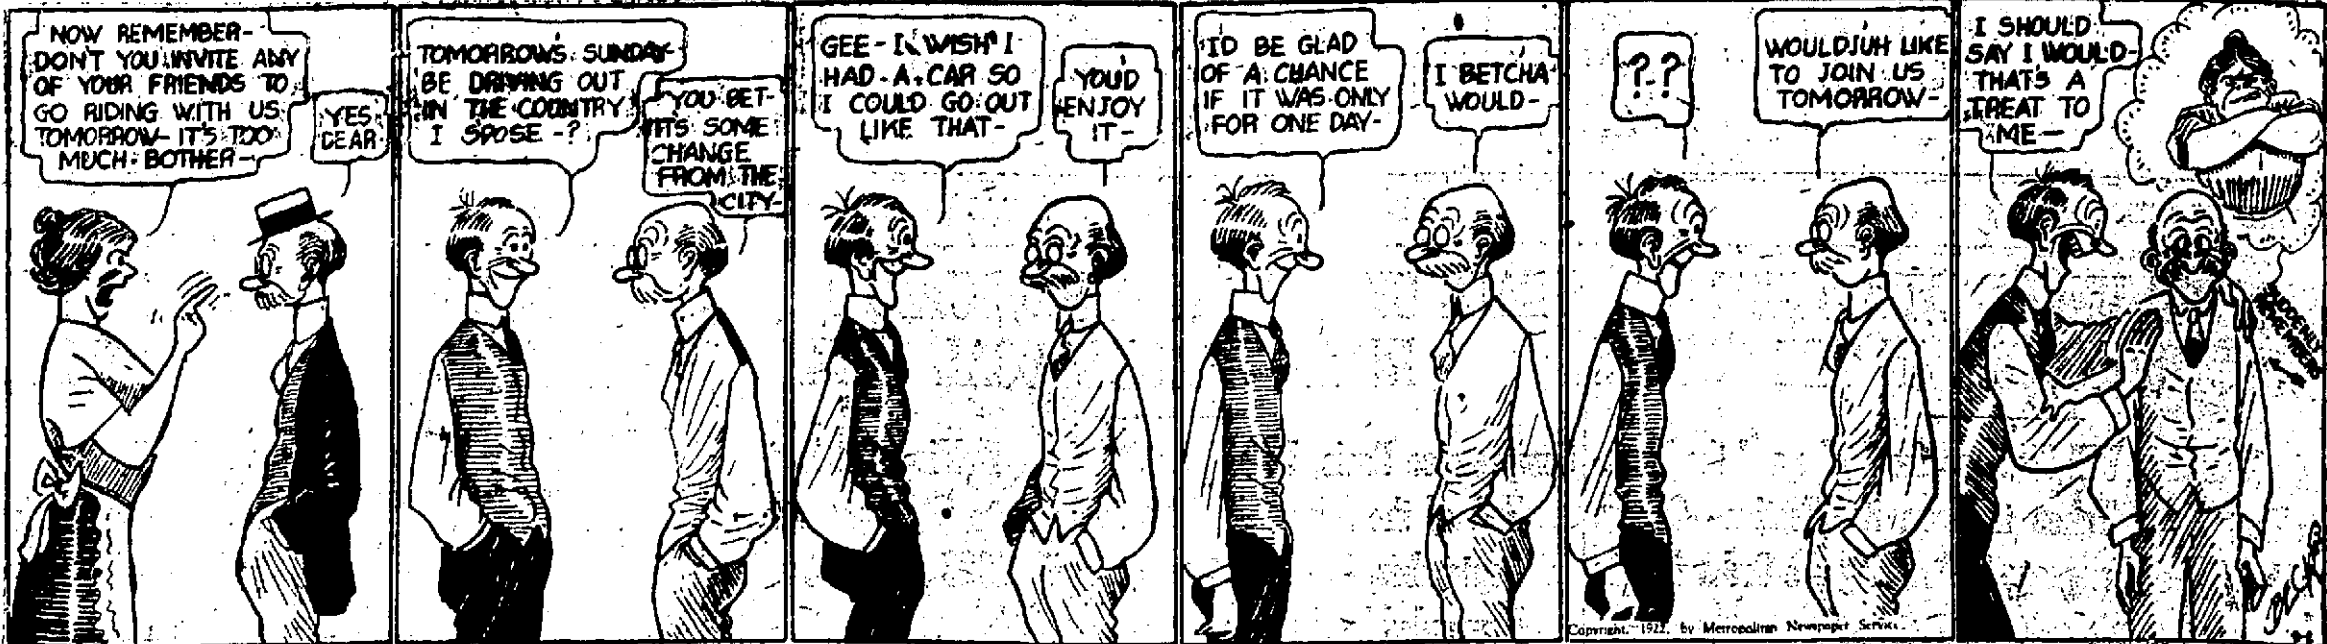

"I held my dolly so she was comfortable and let her lean back against me so that she closed her eyes and had a little nap. I pulled down her clothes and made her look her best, and wrapped around the shawl a little more closely. And the muffler, too. For I have my dolly wear a muffler. Then when it is cold she can have it wrapped around tighter than if it is warm."

"Well, we had a nice trip, Dolly and I, and we did not mind the great crowds of people at all."

"Coming home, a polite young man gave me a seat, for of course it would have been hard to stand and hold my dolly."

"But some one came to see my mother a little later that evening, and she said she had seen me on the car, but that I was too far away from her with the crowds in between to speak to me. But she told my mother that I acted with my dolly so exactly as though she were a real baby that the people gave us seats just naturally."

"My mother and she sat for a good deal about this, but I didn't for my dolly is my baby, and I love my baby so much. And while I think it was polite of the people to give me their seats, I think they should do that when a mother is carrying a baby."

GOOD THINGS TO "PUT UP"

It is pleasant to try some well-recommended recipes, without slighting those which have long been used in the family, for sometimes we find one which we like so well that it is added to the sacred family cook book.

Plum Catsup.—Take one-half peck of blue plums, one pint of vinegar, half the weight of the plums in sugar—less if liked less sweet. Add a tablespoonful each of cloves, cinnamon and allspice, tied in a muslin cloth. Boil together, strain through a colander and boil again until of the right consistency.

Apple and Pepper Sauce.—Cut unripe, tart apples in thick slices, place in layers with sliced green peppers, using one-half dozen peppers to one dozen apples; and over each layer sprinkle salt, using one-half cupful. Tie in a muslin cloth one teaspoonful of crushed cloves, mace, peppercorns, and mustard seed, one cupful of sugar and three pints of vinegar; pour boiling hot over the apples six mornings. Then seal.

Chili Sauce.—Boil together five cupfuls of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of salt and one cupful of sugar, then add twenty-four large ripe tomatoes, three red peppers, and seven onions, all put through the meat grinder. Cook one hour, bottle and seal.

Green Apples and Onions.—Slice green apples, using a dozen apples to three good-sized onions, cook the onions in a little fat until somewhat soft, then add the apples unpeeled; cook until nearly done, then add a little sugar, salt and a dash of cayenne. Serve as a vegetable with pork chops or steak.

Canning Young Beets.—Wash and trim, leaving two inches of stem on each to keep them from bleeding. Cook until tender, skin and place in jars with two tablespoonfuls of sugar to each quart, and one teaspoonful of salt. Set jars into a kettle of water and seal, not tight; cook in the water for an hour. Seal and set in the cellar for winter use.

Rain Music.

The rain in the woods always wakens me. And in my grave, I think, if I lie sleeping under a roof of forest leaves, I shall wake and listen when it rains. Before the stars sang together the primordial waltzes made music to the rising land; before the winds came murmuring through the trees the waves were fingering the sweet-tuned sands strung down the sounding shores; and before the birds found their tongues, or the crickets their little fiddles, or even the toad had blown his quavering conch, it had rained—and not until it had rained—the whole earth woke into song. Mother of music is the water, and, for me, the sweetest of her daughters is the rain, and never sweeter, not even on the ahinges, nor down the rolled, fevered blades of the standing corn, than in the deep woods at night upon the low roof of your tent.—Dallas Lore Sharp in Harper's Magazine.

Right-Sightedness.
The assertion comes from France that the majority of people are not only right-handed, but also right-sighted. By this is meant that most persons see better with the right eye than with the left and habitually, though unconsciously, employ it more. Some persons, however, make greater use of the left eye than of the right, and accordingly are said to be "left-eyed."

Whence Alfalfa Came.
Alfalfa is really a Spanish name for the Medicago Sativa, to give it its full botanical name. It is also known as Spanish-trefle. It may be termed one of the old-timers on this continent as it was brought over to this country by the early Spaniards. It took very kindly to its new home and now is known and valued as fodder in many parts of Canada and the United States.

Miss Alice Thornton, only 19, and very pretty, has admitted that Jack Kline, movie daredevil, who was not to die by George Kline at his home in Edgewater, N. J., was in love with her, and that she had lured him to his home on the night of the shooting so that she might confront him with the charge that he was too friendly with Mrs. Kline. She was jealous of her sweetheart, and when Kline admitted he had attacked Mrs. Kline at Saratoga Lake, N. Y., she killed him. She says she thinks Kline "got what was coming to him" and hopes that Kline will be acquitted.

Alleging that "Jack" Bergen, movie actor, who doubled in daredevil roles for famous screen actors, had attacked his wife, George Bergen, location director for the Fox Film Co., called Bergen to his home in Edgewater, N. J., and shot him to death. Kline told several versions of the killing, including one of a pistol duel to be fought in the dark. It is held for murder in the first degree. Mrs. Kline was detained temporarily, but released. She and her two brothers saw the shooting. "I died as he had lived," declared Mrs. May Cribbin Bergen, wife of dead man, whom he deserted years before, with her little daughter, Janet.

Marriage is a Mode.

It is well life in the South seas is so simple and not complicated by social or financial pressure; otherwise, their young married set would have a difficult time, for the average age of the bride is twelve and that of the bridegroom seventeen. PROPER CARE OF MOTOR BATTERY

Corroded Terminals. Are Frequently Source of Trouble, Says Prof. Brokaw.

FLOW OF CURRENT RETARDED

After Corrosion Has Formed Best Way to Get Rid of It Is to Scrape the Terminals Until There Is Bright Lead Finish.

Corroded terminals are the chief source of battery trouble, according to H. Clifford Brokaw, technical director of the West Side Y. M. C. A. Automobile schools. He explains that occasionally the self-starter will not work while the lights, horn and ignition operate smoothly.

"This condition may be traced," he adds, "to corroded or poorly fitting battery terminals which will only allow a sufficient amount of current to pass to operate the lights and horn. As the starting motor takes a larger amount of current, the resistance may be great enough to prevent it from operating."

To Remove Corrosion. "Corrosion is formed by the action of the electrolyte or acid in the battery. After it has formed, the most satisfactory way to get rid of it is to scrape the terminals until there is a bright lead finish. Washing the terminals with ammonia or some other alkaline solution will neutralize any acid that may be present and prevent corrosion. When such washing is done, care should be taken that none of this solution gets into the battery. "After the terminals have been scraped and the parts assembled, care should be taken to see that the terminals make contact for the full area of their surface. A firm and full contact is required to supply the amount of current for the starting motor. Some motorists coat the terminals with vaseline or other grease to prevent the acid from coming in contact with the joint.

Lights Burn Out Entirely. "If the corrosion becomes too great, or if the contact from any other reason becomes poor, the lights are apt to flare up to excessive brightness, and if the contact is so poor that no current can pass or if the wire should become disconnected from the battery, the lights will burn out entirely in most systems. This is because the generator which charges the battery is designed to deliver sufficient current to charge the battery at low speed, and when the engine is speeded up it will deliver more than is necessary. The system of regulating the voltage in most cases is such that the battery plays an important part in keeping the voltage from rising to a point where it will burn out the lights and damage other parts.

"Usually about the only attention a battery requires is to keep the plates covered with an electrolyte by adding distilled water. Water containing minerals might damage the battery or at least interfere with its proper action."

LESSON IN GENTLE BRAKING

No Quicker or Certain Way of Sending Tire to Junkman Than to Stop With Jerk.

Apply the brakes considerably and the car will soon show its gratitude, because gentle brake application reduces the strain on tires, wheels, springs and other parts. If the brakes are applied with full force at least once, if not both rear wheels are likely to lock, and in sliding along the ground a noticeable amount of rubber is scraped from the tire at the point where it contacts with the ground. There is no quicker nor more certain way of sending tires quickly to a rubbish heap or the junkman. Harsh brake application wears the brake lining unduly and pulls and racks the whole car. Much greater economy will be obtained and much less trouble will be experienced if the brakes are used as sparingly as possible.

Famous Greenwood Cemetery. Greenwood cemetery in Brooklyn, comprising 475 acres, was opened in 1840, and since that time more than 300,000 burials have been made in it. Its control is vested in a board of public trustees, who have for its maintenance a fund of nearly $1,000,000. Among the noted monuments in Greenwood cemetery are those erected in memory of Horace Greeley, James Gordon Bennett, John Matthews, the Brown brothers, S. F. B. Morse, Mary M. Danvers, Charlotte Canda, Captain Carrara and A. S. Scribner. The Soldiers' monument, the Firemen's monument, the Brooklyn Theater monument, the Pilot monument and the bronze statue of DeWitt Clinton are also worthy of notice.

Spring shackles, wheel bearings, steering connections and universal joints should be oiled frequently to save wear and insure smoother operation.

It is a good plan to have one's car gone over thoroughly by competent mechanics once in a while, but there are certain points that every owner can look after himself.

To slow down the engine, and remain in high when crossing railway tracks is a dangerous practice. The engine may die with the car wheels on the first rail.

YOU AUTO KNOW

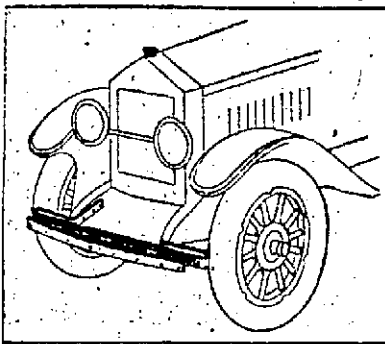

That ordinary soap should not be used on the highly polished surface of the body of the car, because soap usually contains free alkali or lye which enables it to cut the dirt and grease loose, but, at the same time, injures the varnished surface and wears off the attractive gloss which is the pride of the new car owner.

The best method is to use a hose alone, removing the nozzle so that the flow of water comes out slowly and does not tear the grit against the gloss of the car. If a hose is not available, a large sponge and a pail of water may be used, but care should be taken to rinse the sponge after practically every stroke, in order to avoid scratching the finish. A mixture of a gallon of linseed oil with a half-pint of good varnish makes an excellent renewal agent for a surface which has begun to dull. As this is designed only to freshen up the varnish, the mixture should not be stuck, but sufficiently oily to impart a luster without catching dust. (Copyright, 1922, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

BUMPER WILL PROTECT AUTO

The Scientific American, in illustrating and describing a bumper, the invention of I. Rosenberg, 188 St. Nicholas avenue, New York, says: The invention has for its object to provide a construction which may be used on an automobile or other vehicle, and when in use will protect both the vehicle and the object struck. Another object is to provide a bumper wherein a plurality of springs are provided to present a gradual increasing resistance when the bumper strikes an object. The device may be readily applied or removed.

AVTOMOBILE HINTS

Children and dogs are not responsible for their actions on highways.

Flake graphite mixed with ordinary lubricating oil to the consistency of butter is a labor-saver, a rust preventive and an enemy of squeaks on a motorcar.

The carburetor should be adjusted for summer driving so that the mixture will be leaner than in cold weather. Only an expert, however, should look after this.

In summer the radiator has to be filled oftener than in other seasons because water evaporates more quickly in hot weather. At intervals it should be flushed out.

Throw out the clutch before going over a bump in the road. The car then merely coasts over the mound, the shock is reduced, and the occupants are prevented from hitting the ceiling of the car.

IMMANUEL SCHOOL TO OPEN 53D YEAR

Adds Religious Instruction to Grammar School Course, Charges No Tuition and is Maintained by Voluntary Contributions.

Immanuel Lutheran School of Livingston Street Lutheran Church, the Rev. F. T. Schroeder, pastor, will begin its 53d school year on Tuesday September 5th.

The purpose of Immanuel Lutheran school is set forth in the first paragraph of its rules and regulations as follows: "Immanuel Lutheran School aims to combine a thorough religious instruction with a full grammar school course, thus educating the heart and conscience as well as the intellect and building a strong Christian character."

While Immanuel School is in charge of only two teachers, Fred Ehnes, Sr., and Herbert Bruening, it nevertheless gives its pupils a systematic and thorough training in Bible history, Luther's Small Catechism, the story of the Lutheran church, and, at the same time, the regular course of study prescribed by the state board of regents and the local board of education. Regents' examinations are conducted twice yearly with graduation exercises taking place in June every year. Instruction for the catechumens are held by the pastor, the Rev. F. T. Schroeder. Immanuel School has received public and private endorsement by Principal Lewis, Superintendent Michael and others.

Immanuel Lutheran School is supported by voluntary contributions of the communicant members of Immanuel Church. The members of the Lutheran church not only gladly pay their share of taxes toward the maintenance of the public school, but are, as a matter of principle, opposed to diverting the funds of the public school for the support of any private school. Hence, the fees underlying the Lutheran parochial school is not in the least antagonistic to the public school or un-American. It merely seeks to give each child the public school cannot give—a sound Christian education throughout each day for the whole year.

Immanuel School charges no tuition. Textbooks in all grades are furnished free. During the past year the school rooms have been renovated under the direction of the school board. The total cost for the past year amounted to $9, and an equally large number of pupils is anticipated for the coming year.

ABLE NOT UP TO DATE SAYS THE REV. DR. GRANT

Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York Sept. 2.—The Bible cannot be made a handbook for modern preachers, the church cannot organize its life of today on texts found in the New Testament, the Bible is not a source of scientific knowledge—because needs of an age break through and discard the ideas of the past.

These are a few of the observations of Dr. Percy Sweeney Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension, New York, in a strong denunciation of a movement to narrow the attitude of the Protestant Episcopal Church on divorce. Dr. Grant said the object of the Puritanist movement to be presented at the tri-ennial convention at Portland, Ore., September 6, is supposed to be the forbidding of remarriage of all persons innocent or guilty, who have been divorced for any cause. Episcopal ministers would be prohibited from marrying divorced persons.

The divorce canon at present permits remarriage "to the innocent party in a divorce for adultery." "The hardship of this situation falls upon good people whose tragic experiences require divorce," declared Dr. Grant, who would broaden the canons of the Episcopal church relating to divorce.

"The real question," he pointed out, "is whether theology or science is to frame our social institutions, an ascetic conception or the experiences and needs of humanity; the dead or the living."

Dr. Grant charged that "narrow minded ecclesiastics" say divorce has brought chaos in the American home. He pointed out there is likewise chaos in homes where there has been a divorce, in business, education, and legislation.

Illumination of modern knowledge will improve our institutions, not dogmatic theology according to the minister. The new divorce canon of the Episcopal Church is believed by Dr. Grant to be based upon a disputed statement in the New Testament relating to divorce. He pointed out the day of the Christ, men, tiring their mates, practically wrote their own divorces. Dr. Grant believes Christ's words on divorce referred to local conditions existing at that time.

In the New Testament there are no precedents for prohibition, woman's suffrage, child labor laws and wage slavery, the minister remarked.

"We are all laughing at Bryan and the Kentucky mountaineers, because they wanted to prohibit the teaching evolution in the schools of Kentucky," Dr. Grant exclaimed. "We naturally don't expect to find nine-century science in a book 1,000 years old. Why should we expect to find twentieth century theology?"

Divorce, by itself, does not leave one concerned in a state of sin or in an immoral situation the divine law. He thinks a too drastic application of "blue laws" on divorce would encourage "illegitimate relationships and the two family system." But the Episcopal Church goes further than "unintelligent action," Dr. Grant continued. Attempts to "undermine and destroy the laws of the country by bidding its clergy to carry them out as a matter of conscience is just what early settlers of this country left Europe to escape. He said "our republic is opposed to direct religious interference. The attitude of the church amounts to an invasion of the civil power, according to the minister.

"If the clergy refuses to honor marriage licenses duly signed, the right to perform marriages should be taken away from them," Dr. Grant said. The minister deplored what he believes is a movement to make the Episcopal church a Puritan church. He said it is a church of the rich and "somewhat the church of the poor."

"The rich as a group don't care what the marriage laws are," he commented. "The poor resort to desertion and bigamy when matters go wrong at home."

Divorce, according to the minister, is a part of the woman's question. Two thirds of the divorces, he pointed out, are asked for by women.

"Industrial independence will increase the number of divorces," Dr. Grant concluded. "Divorce used to be thought a scheme put forward by bad men to gratify their passions. In reality it is relief sought by good women."

RETAIL COAL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION CODE OF ETHICS

The following is a declaration of principles of the National Retail Coal Dealers' Association which might be of interest to the consuming public during the present coal crisis:

The retail coal merchant is an economic necessity. He performs a public service, obtaining for his community fuel required for local, domestic and industrial consumption, maintaining storage and delivery facilities commensurate with the community's needs. He is prepared at any time to meet the average expected peak of demand and to furnish the best of his ability the kind and quantity of fuel needed. He is prepared to advise and serve consumers, to their mutual interest and advantage. As an organization, without attempt to dictate principles to govern the action of any individual, we declare that:

1.—The business foundation of a successful coal merchant must be truth, honesty, courteous service and fair dealing. Any individual merchant or aggregation of merchants failing short of this declaration is undesirable as a member of this organization.

2.—The retail coal merchant above described is entitled to the respect and confidence of his entire community, and the consideration and protection of his fellow business men.

3.—The merchant who stoops to take unfair advantage of consumers by profiteering in seasons of great demand, or in other emergencies, has no honorable place in the business world, and is hereby declared undesirable as a member of the National Retail Coal Merchants' Association and its affiliated associations.

"ROADHOG" CAUSES SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Florentino are in the Kingston City Hospital, the result of an auto accident at Port Ewen Friday — Guilty Party Escapes.

As the result of one "road hog's" negligence Enrique Florentino and his wife of 509 Ninth avenue, New York City, are in the Kingston City Hospital, he with a very serious cut which extends from his mouth to his shoulder and other minor cuts and bruises, she with two fractured ribs and numerous bruises about the body. Both are suffering from shock. As usual, the person who caused the accident escaped without injury and did not stop after the accident to learn how much damage was done.

The Florentino party, which included two others who were not seriously injured, were coming north from West Park where they are boarding. When nearly opposite the residence of the Rev. C. H. Polhemus about a mile south of Port Ewen village, a car coming south met the Dodge car of Florentino. At the same time a third car attempted to squeeze in between. In attempting to avoid an accident the Dodge was turned to the right of the road but the driver lost control and the car side-swiped a telephone pole and crashed into the fence. The windshield was broken, showering the occupants with glass.

Dr. G. W. Ross of Port Ewen was notified and the injured people were rushed to the Kingston City Hospital where they were attended by the doctor. After receiving treatment two of the party left.

Mr. Florentino sustained a deep cut from the corner of his mouth extending down to his shoulder. The wound bled freely and the immediate vicinity of the accident was covered with blood. He received other minor cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Florentino had two ribs fractured and suffered from painful bruises and shock.

This morning both were reported as getting along exceptionally well at the hospital.

The Dodge car was badly damaged when it came in collision with the pole. The right side was smashed, the fenders and running board demolished and the front of the car damaged when it struck the fence. The car was later removed by a wrecking crew. The accident happened about two o'clock Friday afternoon and a report quickly spread that from two to four people had been killed in the accident.

In the excitement which prevailed immediately after the accident the party which caused the accident escaped without their number being taken.

HUDSON VALLEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SEPT. 21.

The fall meeting of the Hudson Valley Federated Chamber of Commerce will be held on Mount Beacon on Thursday, September 21. Beacon was chosen as the scene of the fall meeting at the summer session of the federation held at Cornwall. It is expected that between one hundred and fifty and two hundred members of the valley chamber between Yonkers and Troy will attend the session. Every town having members in the federation will be represented, as important business is to be transacted at the meeting. George E. McCoy, of Peekskill, president of the organization, will preside.

A nationally known speaker will attend and will have the honor position on the speaking program which will follow the banquet on the mountain. The banquet will be served in the casino dining room, which overlooks Beacon, Newburgh and 30 miles of the Hudson valley.

One of the matters of business to come before the meeting is a rally campaign for new members. This campaign will be to properly finance the organization for the carrying on of a program of important work.

Edmond J. Powers, secretary of the valley organization, has conducted a personal solicitation for members practically all summer and has met with great success.

Northlife Estate Settled.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 2.—The dispute over the estate of the late Lord Northlife, arising from the fact that Lord Northlife left two wills, has been settled out of court, according to the Daily Express today. The settlement, according to the Daily Express, was brought about through the intervention of Lord Rothermere, brother of the late publisher. Sensational litigation had been in prospect.

INJUNCTION IS BEING SERVED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Service of the "great injunction" against the striking railroad workers and their leaders began here today.

United States marshals, armed with the drastic restraining order issued by Federal Judge James H. Wilkeson at the request of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, swarmed from the Federal buildings. Deputy marshals reported that B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Department of the American Federation of Labor, could not be located. He was reported to have taken a train for the east during the night.

Japanese Socialists Active.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Tokio, Sept. 2.—Japanese Socialists today are carrying on vigorous propaganda for Japanese recognition of the Russian Soviet government. The police broke up a mass meeting of 2,000 Socialists at the Y. M. C. A. last night, after they had adopted a resolution demanding Japanese recognition of the Moscow regime at the forthcoming conference of Russian and Japanese delegates.

Election Officers Get Instructions.

Election officers of the various districts of the county were at the court house Friday evening on notification of the Ulster county board of election commissioners and were given copies of the election law with amendments, with instructions to study the provisions. They were also given certificates of qualification. There was a large attendance.

The Wedding Feast.

One of the new suburban churches has a built-in bridal nook. This is a dainty little canopied and pillared affair and is meant to serve for weddings where the full church is not needed. It has a separate entrance for the bride and groom and space for a small company of guests. There are lots of girls who would like a church wedding, but the groom balks at the show and parade when there is a church full of people looking on. This tabloid cathedral effect will have its appeal in such cases. The happy couple can turn up at the pastor's study with a suit case and a vanity box and have all the satisfaction of a church wedding in a few minutes. Anything that will make our weddings more genial will be welcomed.—Los Angeles Times.

Thirty Days for Thomas.

Thomas Schoonmaker, a negro 67 years old, was arrested this morning by Officer Saehoff on a charge of making indecent remarks to children on West Strand Friday afternoon. Judge Groves on Thomas's plea of guilty sentenced him to thirty days in the county jail.

IN COMMAND OF FLOOD CAMP

Lieut. M. L. Gelsenberger, Valuable Aid at Natches, When Mississippi Went on Rampage.

After the American Red Cross at Natches, Miss., had obtained from the government several hundred army tents to house flood refugees, it was found that the government had failed to send anybody along who could direct the erection of the canvas shelters. Fortunately members of the Natchez American Legion had had experience with practically every sort of tent from "pop" tents on up. After having rescued hundreds of people from house-tops and tree-tops, the Legionnaires took upon themselves the job of erecting a tent city to house these refugees.

A Legion doctor laid out the camp from the standpoint of sanitation, and M. L. Gelsenberger, a former lieutenant, was made commandant of the refugee camp.

More than five hundred people were taken care of during the first few days, and as the flood area widened the number rapidly increased. The Legion's work in the care of flood victims received unstinted praise from every quarter of the country.

NAME IS NOT IN DICTIONARY

"Legionnaire" Not Yet in Official Guide—Promises to Hold for All Time to Come.

The American Legion Weekly comments on a New Zealand Newspaper's use of the word "legionary" to denote a member of the American Legion. "The word 'legionary' has an honored place in the dictionary which 'legionnaire' has not as yet, the Weekly points out. 'But all the sentiment, and it is a case where sentiment counts, is on the side of 'legionnaire.' 'Legionnaire' connotes an embattled Roman, toting a shield and spear for Julius Caesar. 'Legionnaire' calls to mind (from the French point of view) a regiment of foreigners of the French Foreign Legion.

"'Legionnaire' as indicating a member of the American Legion, seems too firmly established to dislodge. We must remember that all Legions—Roman, Foreign and American—had one thing in common: They fought in France."

No Difference Now.

Movie Director—Now here is where you jump off.

Star—I know, but suppose I'm hurt? Director—That's all right, old man. It's the last scene in the picture.—American Legion Weekly.

Suggestions of a Doughboy.

Being the suggestions of a doughboy on the manner of conducting the next war, together with certain reflections on the conduct of the last one. That all song writers, would-be writers, song leaders and vaudeville singers be marked Class I-A. That they be drafted in the first contingent and have at least six months' intensive training at K. P. sanitary detail, etc., before being permitted to compose their country's songs.

That any person who shall write, compose or sing or attempt to write, compose or sing songs expressing doughboy sentiment without such previous training shall be liable to death and shall be sent over the top at midnight with a lantern in each hand.—American Legion Weekly.

"It's a Great Life."

Proving that gay Paris didn't cause them to forget the cows and chickens, 600 of the 3,800 vocational trainees in the Seattle (Wash.) district of the veterans' bureau are taking up agriculture as their new occupation. When asked about their work, these embryo farmers invariably reply, "It's a great life."

Sam Johnson's Good Advice.

House from this lazy dream of fortuitous riches, which if obtained, you could scarcely have enjoyed, because they could confer no consciousness of desert; return to rational and manly industry, and consider the mere gift of luck as below the care of a wise man.—Samuel Johnson.

FOUR STRAIGHT AT FAIR GROUNDS

This Afternoon Colonials Play The Madison Colored Giants; Sunday The Kennedy All Stars and On Labor Day The Astor Club a Two-Timer—The Four Games Will be Played at The Kingston Fair Grounds.

This afternoon at the Fair Grounds the Kingston Colonials will play the Madison Colored Giants and from the advance notice sent the local management the Colonials will have stiff opposition. Sunday at the local diamond the Kennedy All Stars will be the adversaries of the Schrickmen. This team has been seen in action on the Fair Grounds earlier in the season when they lost a good struggle by a score of 4 to 0.

The local team are on an equal footing with the Astor team of Rhinebeck as a result of their victory at Rhinebeck on Thursday. Of course it would never do to stop now as the better team would not be known. Labor Day night we may know for on that day a double header with this team will be staged at the Kingston Fair Grounds, one in the morning the other in the afternoon. But still we may not know as an even break is possible. If so the deciding game will be staged at a later date. Local fandom knows a good ball team when they see one and that is the reason a great crowd gathers to witness these contests. On Monday the record attendance of the season will probably be broken. The even basis on which these teams battle is shown in their last struggle ending in the locals favor by a 2 to 1 tally. Forsyth and Harper were the opposing pitchers in the last struggle but just who will be assigned the tasks on Labor Day makes it more interesting.

ALL STARS FIND IT HARD TO SECURE GAMES.

The Kingston All Stars are finding it hard to get suitable opponents these days. They were scheduled to play Milton this Sunday but Milton cancelled. This makes four teams that have cancelled games within the past two weeks. The All Stars are scheduled to appear in Coxsackie in two weeks. The Red Hook team with victories over the best of them, also refuses to play the hard hitting Kingston outfit. No reasons have been advanced for all these sudden cancellations but it looks as though the All Stars were supposed to be "easy picking" and then turned out differently. The players are craving for action. The teams up north flatly refuse to have anything to do with the Kingston clan and are perfectly satisfied to stay within the confines of the Capital district. However, the All Stars are not letting grass grow under their feet and are practicing daily in order to keep in condition. Manager McCordle expects to hear from some first class clubs shortly and it is possible that the boys will soon be clouting 'em out again.

Regulars Play Ruby.

The Kingston Regulars will travel to Ruby Monday morning to play the team representing that place. The Regulars defeated the Ruby team last Sunday in a fast game by the score of 9 to 5, with Bedford and Bruck as the battery. Either Bedford or Spader will be in points for the Regulars with Bruck on the receiving end. Game called at 10 a. m.

The "Y" Boys' Department.

The Boys' Department at the local Y. M. C. A. will be closed on Labor Day. Beginning Tuesday, September 5, the department will again be opened and the usual good wholesome sports enjoyed by the large membership. The boys' department will be opened from 3 to 5:30 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening.

TAGGING THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

By Telegraph to The Freeman. The Giants, like bad checks, boomers and the well known cat, are coming back. They came a step nearer the field in dropping their third straight to the Dodgers, 8 to 7, in the tenth inning. The champs, however, are still five games in front with the wire in sight.

Ehmke was good and bad in spots and the Browns got to him for enough runs in the fourth and eighth innings, to head the Tigers, 4 to 1. Shocker shocked 'em as usual. The victory placed the Browns two games behind the Yankees who were idle.

The rebellious Red Russell went on another hitting rampage during the course of a double-header in which the Cards and Pirates divided the spoils. He smote two in the first game, won by the Pirates 14 to 4, and a third in the second game which went to the Cards, 11 to 6. Russell's total for the season is twelve.

The Indians slid back into the second division in absorbing a 2 to 0 defeat at the hands of Robertson and the White Sox in a fore-shortened game. Robertson not only pitched shutout ball, but drove in both Chicago runs in the second.

Winning their second straight double-header from the Phillies, 2 to 0, and 10 to 1, the Braves pulled themselves up on their bootstraps to within three points of seventh place.

Galloway's homer with two out in the ninth, tied the score and Mitchell's wild throw in the eleventh gave the Athletics a 4 to 3 decision over the Red Sox.

The Cubs strengthened their hold on second place by beating the Reds, 7 to 4, opportune hitting and errors by Fonseca and Pinelli being more or less instrumental.

Last Night's Fights.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Coney Island—Dave Rosenberg got the decision over Jack Stone, 12 rounds; Willis Pfeiffer got the decision over Willie Herman, 12 rounds.

Aurora, Ill.—Bob Martin knocked out Andy Schneider in two rounds. Syracuse—Mixer Mitchell, of Manlius, defeated Sailor Pacilio of Utica on points and won back the central New York lightweight championship. Boston—"Hambone" Kelly's mid-dleweight title hopes were shattered last night when the dusky George Robinson of Cambridge, knocked him out in the third round.

Mrs. Despart, sister of Field Marshal Earl French, of Vpres, is a candidate for the British Parliament. She has been a prominent factional figure in Irish affairs, is President of the Women's Freedom League and a pioneer in the fight for suffrage in England.

Pigs Not Naturally Dirty.

Pigs are popularly looked upon as dirty animals, but they are not really so, and the unclean appearance of the domestic porker is generally the result of the condition of its sty. In its wild state, the pig keeps itself clean by bathing in river or lake, and rubbing until dry against tree trunks.
